

CSU's Got Talent presentsOwn Your Role in Building a Supportive CSU Community

Student success goes beyond academics, just as employee success goes beyond our productivity. No matter your role, you are part of building the supportive community where students and employees succeed.

Join this three-part webcast series to explore the financial, emotional, and structural conditions that contribute to a supportive CSU community. Participants will recognize how every employee, regardless of role, helps shape the systems, interactions, and campus climate that allow students and employees alike to feel supported, connected, and empowered to thrive.
